

Children's Folklore from the Great Lakes Region

This book is a contemporary storytelling of the Great Lakes area and is for children of all ages and meant to inspire the reader's imagination as we follow the adventures and travels of three Bukwodjininee (Little People).

The old traditional stories were told in a manner similar to Aesop's fables with the story having a moral. The Elders told us that the same stories will have different meanings throughout different stages of life. It is up to the reader to decide the meanings of these new stories such as The Christmas Potato.

JUVENILE FICTION / Legends, Myths, Fables / Native American

PATRICIA SHACKLETON is a member of the Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians. She was awarded the 2020 Michigan Heritage Award. Patricia completed a traditional storytelling apprenticeship through the Michigan Traditional Apprenticeship Program. Although published in other venues, this is Patricia's first book.

$14.95 US

Anishinaabegamig
Cultural Learning Center
Haslett, MI

© 2021 Patricia Shackleton

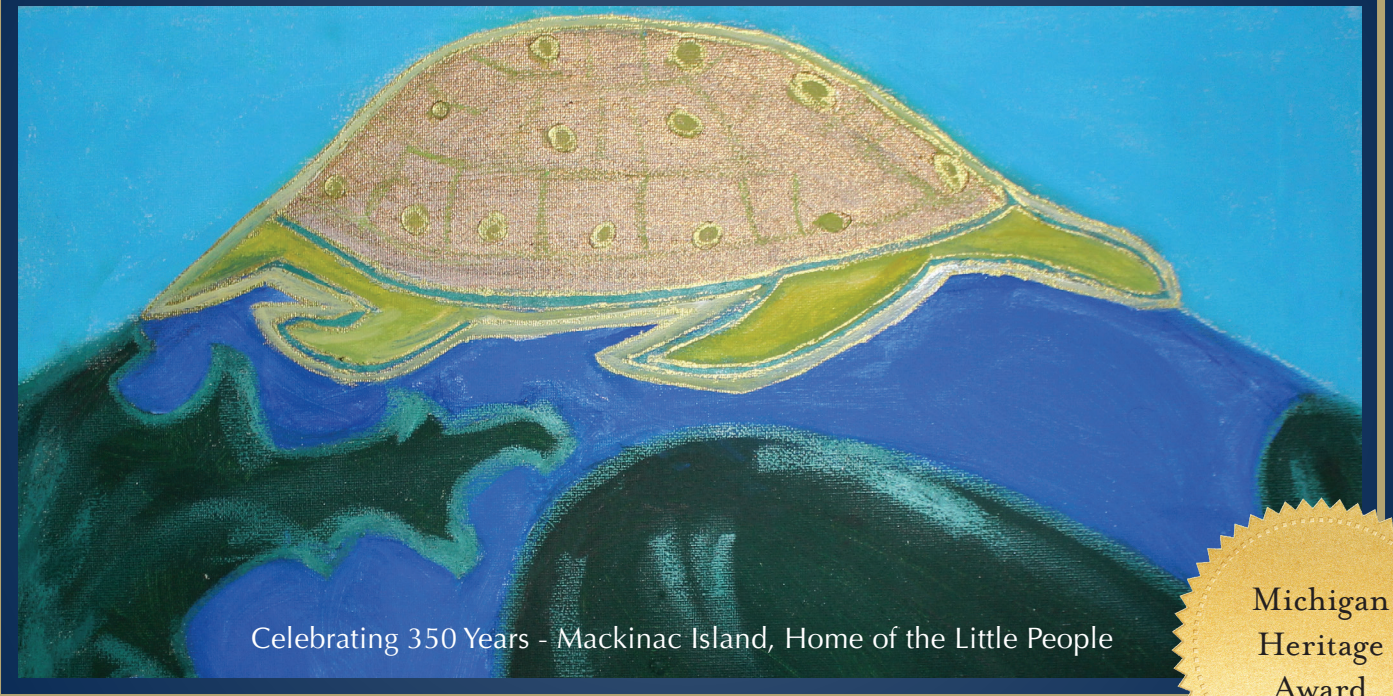

ISBN-13: 978-0-578-66218-3

5 1495

9 780578 662183

How the Little People Stole My Wampum and Other Stories from Turtle Island

Michigan
Heritage
Award

Patricia Shackleton