

PHOTO STORY

ACCOMPLISHING PASSION IN DISASTER

This is a photo story of a girl named Amruta Patil who has passion for photography due to family business. During covid second wave (March 2021 onwards), her family members were infected. There was no income source and family was in difficult financial crisis. Amruta took the lead in this family crisis and learnt to handle her family business of photography and Xerox during COVID to handle her father's shop in his absence. She utilized this critical period by learning the techniques and methods of photography from her father. Now at the age of 14, she can handle the shop alone without any problems or difficulties. Whenever her father has to go for outdoor photography, she handles the shop and customers. She is a big helping hand for her father and business now. Here in five frames, I have shown the method through which she learnt photography.

In the first frame, she is looking towards the camera with keen interest. It depicts her wish to learn photography. She shared that she always wanted to learn it and when she got the time during COVID, she utilized it to complete her wish.

In second frame, she is holding a camera and looking in the camera Shutter for proper adjustment. She shared that it was difficult for her to focus from only one eye but she managed to learn the technique.

In third frame she is adjusting the lens which helps to zoom in or zoom out the photo. She shared that she found it interesting to adjust the lens which helps to zoom in or zoom out the photo. She shared that she found it interesting to adjust the lens according to the object. She enjoyed clicking pictures of scenes which were far away from her.

In fourth frame, she is pressing the button of camera to click the photo on the correct time.

In fifth frame it's the final image which she clicked perfectly.